

This country is founded on the idea that people can freely exchange ideas (no matter how controversial) without fear that their government is quietly listening in and trying to influence their daily lives. I believe that this is a means to that end and I strongly oppose it.